

I am Timothy St. Clair Sr, currently work for Dekalb County Schools, Ronald E. McNair Middle School, I have been here for two. Before this post I was an employee of Atlanta Public Schools, Booker T. Washington High Schools for seven years. I currently serving on the board of Directors for Georgia FCCLA. Since becoming an educator, I have gain many experiences and the forefront of those experience has always be student success. I have and will always share my knowledge, leadership, and empathy with my all my fellow stakeholders in education.

I am a product of Dekalb County Schools by the way of Avondale High Schools.

I am an Alumni of the Art Institute of Atlanta and received both my Associates and Bachelor of Science in Culinary Arts. I also received my MBA with a Hospitality Concentration from Johnson & Wales University. I also plan to attend Kennesaw State University and obtain my Educational Specialist in Instructional Technology, which I will use to improve the way in which Career Technical & Agricultural Education is developed and delivered. I have served twenty years in the United States Armed Forces, twelve in the United States Marines Corps & eight in the Georgia Army National Guard receiving an Honorable Discharge and Retired.